

Brand Guideline Sheet.

Logo Suite.

It's crucial that your logo is responsive and adaptable to various spaces. To achieve this, you have a logo suite with different variations of your primary logo.

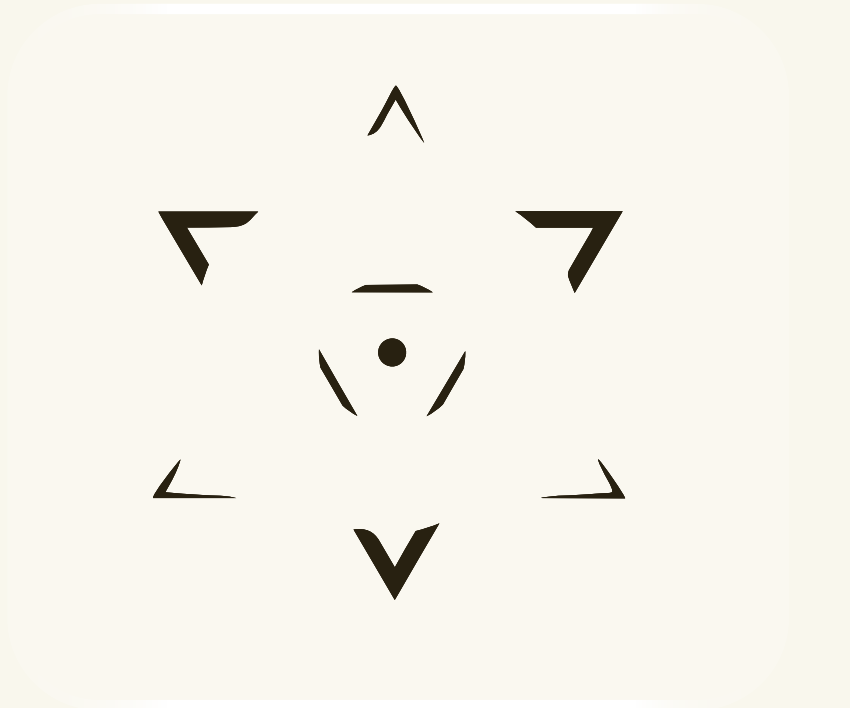

Primary.

This should be used first if space allows for it. Use it on websites, footers, stationery, signage etc.

Logo Mark.

Used for smaller spaces like Social media profile pictures, stamps, favicon etc.

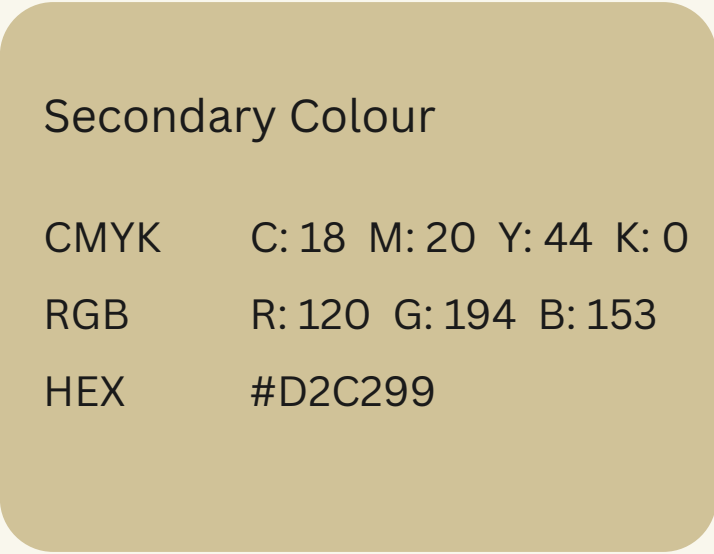

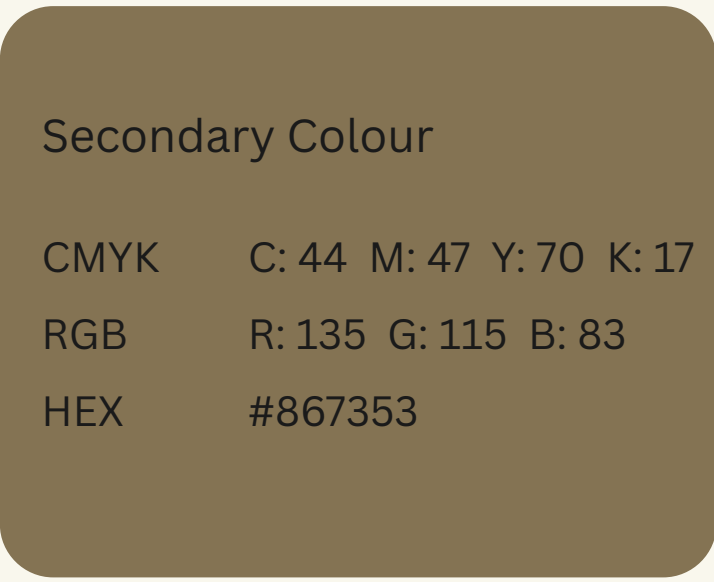

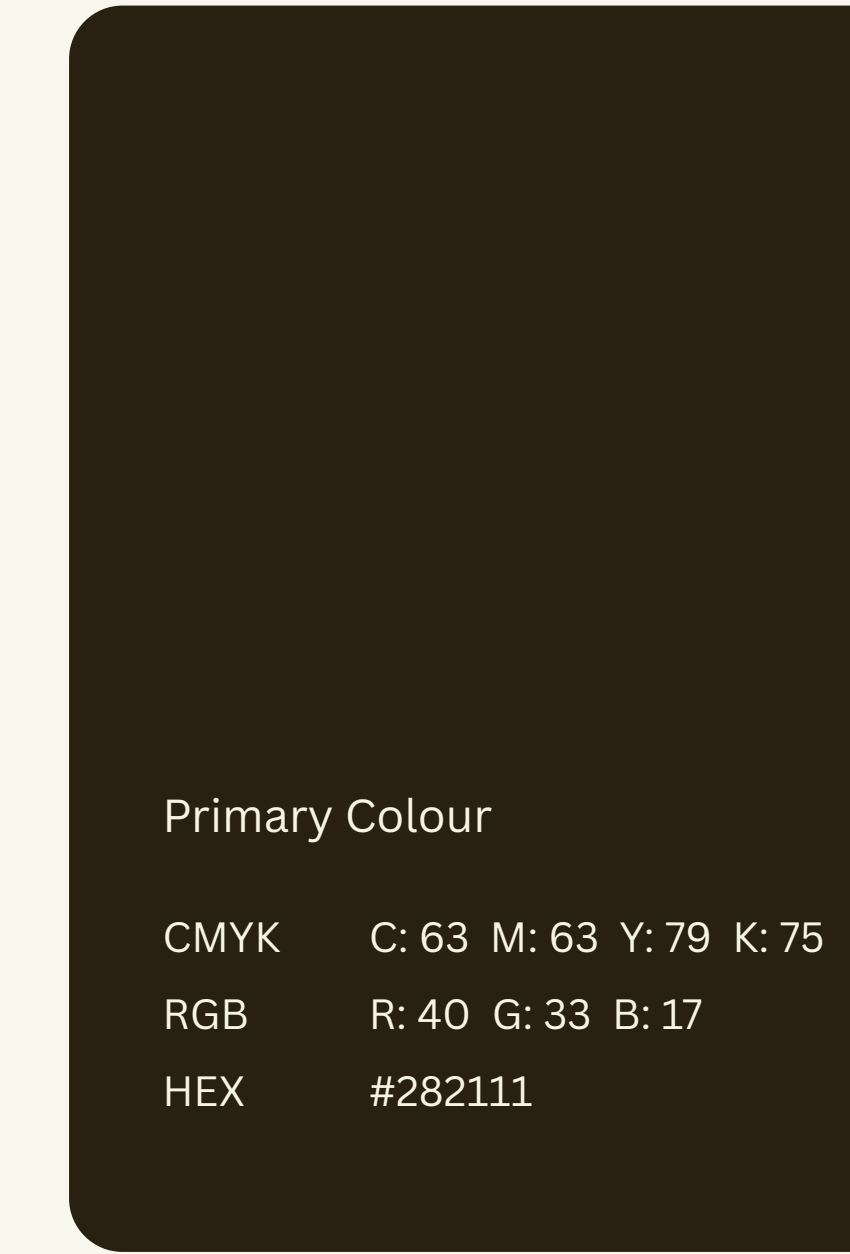

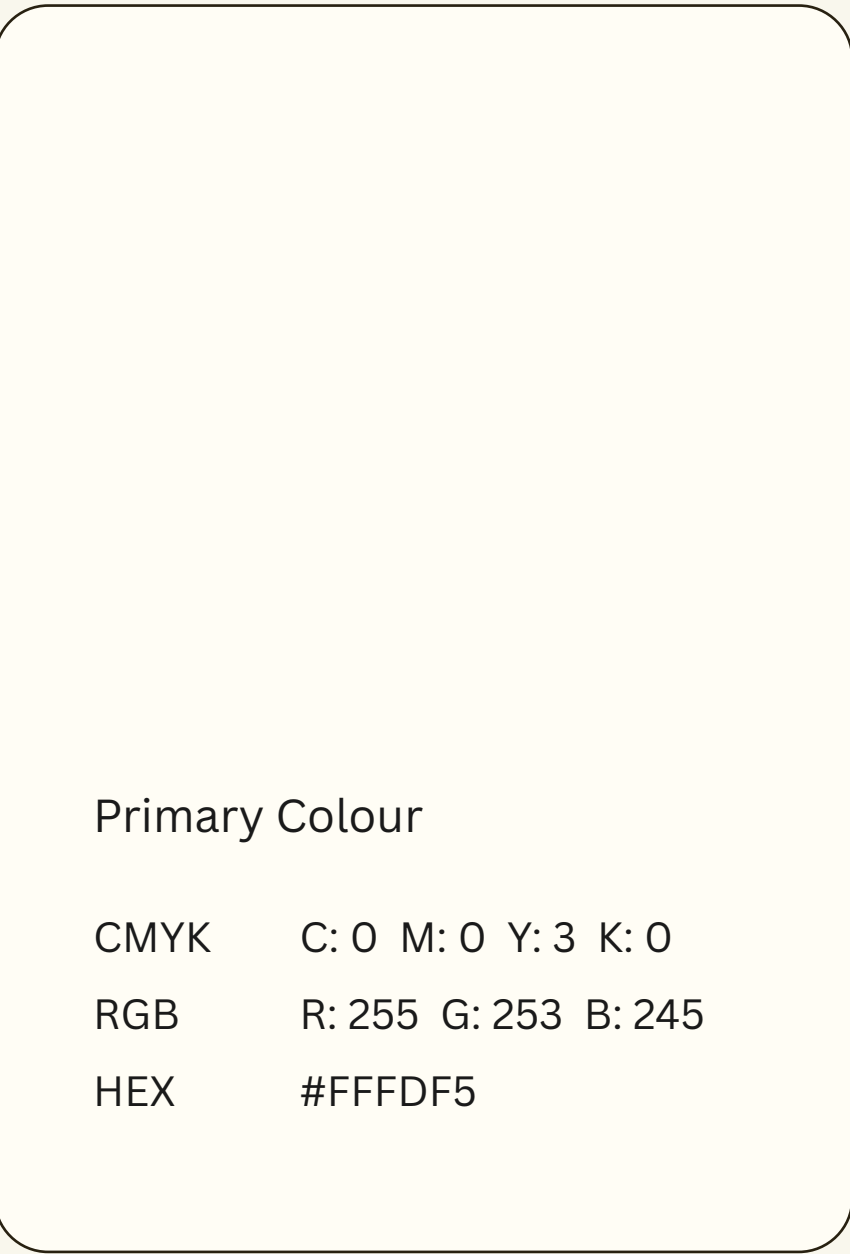

Colour Palette.

CMYK:
Used in printed materials.

RGB:
Used on-screen and for web design.

HEX Code:
Used on-screen and for web design.

Brand Assets.

Illustrations can be used on their own or as a pattern switch. Use this on websites, stationery, packaging, printed materials, social posts etc.

Brand Fonts.

Carefully selected to complement your brand identity. Maintaining consistent typography across your brand ensures recognition and creates memorability.

Primary.

The primary font is your default typeface & should be used within headers & titles.

Secondary.

This complements your primary font and will be used on subheadings.

Supporting.

This complements both sets and should be used within body copy.
